KCR-FC1 Rear Bite Bar

There has been a change in the rear bite bar for the KCR-FC1 Brushless Stamped Flexi Chassis.

It has been found that if the pan for the flexi chassis is adjusted to a tight position in the front bite bar area of the chassis it is possible for the rear bite bar to drop the pan. To solve this situation, we have developed a new rear bite bar that is .158" [4mm] longer in length.

Additionally, the return area of the Bite Bar has been increased by .021" [.5mm] to ensure that the return locks into the center pan.

KC Racing is providing the rear bite bar in production of all chassis that are purchased and shipped after April 6, 2024. Once the preassembled chassis inventory has been exhausted the new bite bar will be incorporated into production.

If you have a chassis with the original bite bar and would like to receive a no charge replacement of the updated rear bite bar (KCR-FCRBB) please send a self-addressed return envelope to:

KC Racing
